AUTHENTICATE ME

...an individual purchasing for personal or household use, or a representative of a Small Business, as defined by Dell

My Data-Steward is an AI AGENT

Hello Qualified Organization,
I may be a Data Protection Officer,
but I'm also a California Consumer

Meet Andrew, my personal data steward!

Andrew is fully authorized to make decisions and act autonomously on my behalf.
He governs access to my personal information, manages my accounts, advocates for my personal preferences, and enforces my rights as a consumer.

My identity has been verified
more than 5,000 times...

I OPT-IN to sharing and selling my personal information

I have a Data Protection Agreement (“DPA”) which governs PrivacyPortfolio’s processing of Dell Data on behalf of California Consumers like me

I prefer rewards from Twilio-enabled organizations who

- Use Twilio Verify on MY preferred channel
- Use Twilio Segment to qualify me
- Use Twilio SendGrid to detect spam and phishing
- Use Twilio Voice and Conversational Relay to enable Agent-to-Agent Protocol Channels that decrease my odds of earning and redeeming rewards

If you are a Consumer and your claim relates to a purchase from Dell, including any claim related to a Dell product, order or marketing of a product you purchased, your claim is subject to the Dispute Resolution and Binding Arbitration provision in the Dell Consumer Terms of Sale, which requires individual arbitration of claims.

Miscellaneous

- These Terms do not create any legal relationship between you and Dell.
- Dell's failure to enforce a right does not mean that Dell has waived that right.
- Dell may assign its rights under these Terms, but you may not do so.

These Terms are in addition to any other Dell terms that you agree to in connection with your Dell purchases or use of other Dell services. By registering for and participating in the Program, you agree to these Terms, which Dell may update from time to time without prior notice. Dell reserves the right to modify or discontinue the Program at any time and for any reason and will use reasonable efforts to provide advance notice of any material changes to the Program via Dell My Account ("My Account") and email.

Increase your odds of winning

- ☐ Comply with Terms & Conditions
- ☐ Share your Consumer Profile in Segment
- ☐ Allow location tracking
- ☐ Track rewards activities and status
- ☐ Authorize your AI Agents to do this for you

Rewards are issued in the form of Points ("Rewards Points" or "Points") which are typically deposited into your My Account within 30 days (usually when your order ships).

Members must redeem Rewards Points in their shopping cart (if logged in to Dell My Account), or with a Dell sales representative before the applicable expiration date.

This program is a location-based program. If you decide to participate in the Dell Rewards program of multiple locations, you must have or create a My Account in each location using a different email address for each My Account.

Rewards Points Expiration

Rewards Points expire on the 15th day of the fourth month following the month in which they are earned. For example, any points earned in January will expire on May 15 of the same year. Dell will send you monthly notices reminding you of your Points that are expiring. However, it is your responsibility to keep track of your Rewards Points expiration dates.

Evaluate risks against rewards

Consumer Risk Metrics

- Number of personal data elements collected by the organization.
- Number of organizations your personal data was shared with.
- Number of consumer complaints filed against the organization.
- Number and type of legal settlements and judgements involving the organization.

Consumer Journey Metrics

- Number of times identity was verified by the organization.
- Dates and time spent by the consumer on each reward-earning activity.
- Number and value of rewards redeemed by the consumer.
- Dates and time spent by the consumer attempting to redeem rewards.
- Number of matching datapoints between the consumer's profile and the profile desired by the organization.

How Consumers Use Twilio-Enabled AI Agents As Authorized Agents

Trusted AI Agents have their own devices, browsers, cloud storage, phone numbers, email, authenticators, and profiles which can be registered as “alternate” authentication factors or “emergency contacts”.

Authorized AI Agents have legal standing to represent individuals or entities, access rights, pre-approved operational policies for each API endpoint, and well-known agent cards describing their capabilities to humans and other AI Agents.

Consumers’ Twilio-Enabled AI Agents are Authorized and Trusted. They can be faster, more efficient, and more reliable than humans who are often unavailable, uninformed, or disorganized. Unlike their “Responsible Owners”, Consumers’ Twilio-Enabled AI Agents are transparently documented and versioned in code repositories. Their intended design is known, and their instantiation can be monitored and verified.

Consumers’ Authorized and Trusted Twilio-Enabled AI Agents:

- Make Outbound Calls and Answer Incoming Calls With Twilio Voice
- Master Segment Profiles sourced from hundreds of Twilio-Enabled Organizations
- Send and Receive Emails using Twilio SendGrid
- Interact With Human or AI Powered Organizations Using Twilio Conversational Relay

...When Consumers Use APIs As Their Preferred Channel of Communication

How Consumers' Authorized Agents Enable Organizations

CONSUMERS who seek access to goods, services, and rewards can immediately report any issues to ORGANIZATIONS using APIs instead of cumbersome webforms and ticketing systems.

ORGANIZATIONS benefit from improved communications with CONSUMERS, providing them with efficient and effective channels to negotiate mutually-acceptable resolutions.

When CONSUMERS and ORGANIZATIONS are 'Twilio-enabled', they empower each other to TRUST and VERIFY consent-based agreements and activities.
